

Don't Try To Catch A Planet With Your Teeth

(Cohen/Gray)

Don't try to catch a planet with your teeth
(um mmm)
You'll do a bit of damage on top and underneath (brrrrwaaaawwwwwww)
Cause Venus Mercury and Mars
And Earth don't chew like candy bars
Don't try and catch a planet with your teeth
(I hear the wisdom)

Once you put a planet in your mouth
(what happens then?)
You'll discover that between the polar north and south
Some planets are just dirt and rock
And some are gas (Well that's a shock!)
So don't you put a planet in your mouth

The planets closest to our sun
Each of them's a rocky one

Then four giant gassy spheres
And none would fit between your ears

Don't treat a planet like a soccer ball
(what happens then?)
You won't kick it very far
(Not very far at all)
No matter how much oomph you bring
That planet won't quit orbiting
The sun
The sun

Don't try to catch a planet in your teeth
(I am convinced)
Your molars won't be happy up on top and underneath (uh uh)
You can't get Saturn on a spoon
Not Uranus, Jupiter and Neptune
Don't try to a catch a planet in your teeth (no no no)

My uncle Bob tried that adventure
He won a trophy and a brand new denture
(that's false teeth)
Don't try to catch to catch a planet in your teeth (say it again)
Don't try to catch to catch a planet in your teeth (yeah)
Ptoo! Dusty.
