

SUN MON TUE WED THU FRI SAT

		1 	2 Space Shuttle Atlantis took off on its first mission on this day in 1985 from NASA's Kennedy Space Center	3 	4 	5  1st Quarter Moon
6 	7	8 	9 NASA astronaut Kathryn Sullivan was the first American woman to walk in space 35 years ago. Performing a duty outside of a spacecraft is known as an EVA (extravehicular activity).	10	11 	12 The first artificial satellite was launched by the Soviet Union on this day in 1957. Sputnik was about the size of a beach ball and is credited with starting the "Space Race" between the US and USSR.
13  Full Moon	14	15 	16 NASA's Cassini spacecraft launched on this day in 1997 on its mission to explore Saturn	17	18 	19 On this day in 1989, NASA's Galileo spacecraft began its 6-year mission to explore Jupiter.
20 The Orionids meteor shower, which derives from material from Halley's Comet, will peak tonight and should be visible from a dark area.	21  New Moon	22	23 	24 "Fly Like an Eagle" was the wake-up song on the Atlantis space shuttle on this day in 1989, the day it landed safely after deploying the Galileo Jupiter probe.	25	26
27  3rd Quarter Moon!	28 Galileo made the first flyby of an asteroid on this day in 1991 en route to explore Jupiter	29 	30	31 	Happy Halloween!  Watch "The Haunted Asteroid" on our YouTube channel.

Watch Space Racers on Universal Kids and YouTube.com/SpaceRacers